Overview
This is an upper division interdisciplinary seminar that investigates the connections between environmental politics and democratization. While environmental policy will be of some consideration, the focus of the course will be on the politics of the environment—the political, social, and cultural battles that occur around environmental issues. We will be examining the ways that these confrontations shape the broader political landscape in communities, states, and the world. Of particular concern will be the ways that politics around the issue of the environment shapes, and is shaped by, democratic participation and politics.

This seminar will cover very wide geographic and intellectual ground. We will investigate ultra-local environmental issues, engaging in participant observation of environmental politics in our own Middletown community. We will also study how global environmental actors such as international nongovernmental organizations and multinational corporations are shaping the process and the content of environmental policy around the world.

Our seminar is a Permission Of Instruction (POI) course, which means that each of you has been chosen by the professor because you represent a diverse array of interests and bring a wide variety of experiences and knowledge to our seminar. It is expected that each of you will be actively contributing to our collective learning experience throughout the semester. The course is cross-listed in three departments, so we will be utilizing a multidisciplinary approach to this topic throughout the course. This means that you should expect to feel very comfortable with the subject matter and methodological approaches during some weeks but quite uncomfortable and at a loss on other weeks. This feeling of disorientation is an intended component of the course. One of the major goals of the course is to stretch your intellectual boundaries and help make you more comfortable with different ways of thinking about and engaging with environmental (and other) issue.

Although the course is pitched at a high level and in class we will be discussing rather general topics, each of you will become an expert in the environmental politics of a particular country by the end of the semester. Each week you will be conducting research about your country, updating your wiki, and contributing your country-specific knowledge to our general discussion. At the end of the semester you will hand in a final paper that includes a summary of the collective information that you have gathered about your country, an analysis of that information, and a reflection on your experience in the seminar. Each student will also “do” some environmental politics during the semester, and your experiences and reflections on those experiences will enhance our understanding of how the abstract theories and far-away policies that we discuss in class take on shape and context in real life.
Learning Objectives

- Enhanced knowledge of different types of environmental politics
- Enhanced understanding of the complex ways that environmental politics interacts with democracy
- Enhanced ability to think about ethical challenges related to the environment in multiple cultural contexts
- Enhanced ability to understand and utilize multi-disciplinary modes of inquiry
- Deeper knowledge about the environmental politics about a particular country
- Greater sense of empowerment to become positively involved in environmental politics

I hope that you will look to me as a resource. I highly encourage you to take advantage of my office hours to stop by and talk about issues raised in the course or other questions you have. I am very open to feedback about the course and would appreciate you sharing any thoughts you might have for improvement earlier rather than later in the semester. I am very excited about this course, and I hope that we can all have an interesting and productive semester!

Assignments

Your seminar grade will be comprised of five parts:

Class Participation

Seminars rely on quality participation by their members in order to be successful. Students are expected to come to class prepared and engage productively with the material and with their peers during class meetings. Participation in the movement and art workshops are included in this grade.

13%

Public Event Response Papers

One page response papers to public talks/films/performances related to the class that include 1) articulation of the main argument of the talk/film/event, 2) description of the evidence used to support the argument, and 3) three questions that emerge from the event. Two papers minimum. The average of all papers will be the final grade for this section.

Participant Observation Assignment

Each student will participate in some form of environmental politics. The activity must be part of an organized environmental politics related event (e.g., public hearing at city hall, public protest, community clean-up, etc.). Prior to the activity, the student must submit a one page plan for the observation including how it relates to class material. After the activity the student must submit a 2-3 page response paper that includes: 1) a description of what the student did, 2) how it relates to one or more topics discussed in class, and 3) two questions/responses that have emerged for the student from the experience (e.g., now that I understand X, I wonder why…; now that I have done A, I would like to…).

5%

Wiki

Throughout the semester students will maintain and update their wiki about the environmental politics of one particular country. The wiki should be

45%
updated each week with information related to the topic of that week and include issues specifically related to those raised by the readings. (5% per wiki for 8 weeks plus a 5% creativity bonus)

Topic Papers

Students must write two 5-6 page analytic papers over the course of the semester. Each paper will be a reflection on one of the weekly topics. The papers must have a clear argument and use the readings as well as the wiki contributions of classmates as evidence to support that argument. (2 papers 10% each)

Final Paper

The final paper will represent a culmination of the class. It is intended to offer an opportunity to demonstrate the analytic skills that you have gained over the course of the semester as well as challenge your intellectual creativity. Length and topic TBA.

The analytic and final papers will be turned into me in two forms: (1) hard copy handed directly to me or dropped off in the course box in front of the government department AND (2) submitted electronically to turnitin.com. The Turnitin.com submission time will be the one that will determine whether your paper is on time or late. All other assignments (Participant observation papers, responses, etc.) will be submitted electronically to the course Moodle. Course wikis must acknowledge sources appropriately. I am not tolerant of cheating or plagiarism. I will give you all the tools you need to do well on your assignments throughout the quarter, so there should be no need for unacceptable assistance. All papers must be submitted to turnitin.com to help protect everyone against plagiarism. For questions about Wesleyan’s policies on plagiarism see: www.wesleyan.edu/studenthandbook/3_honorsystem.ctt

Complaints:

Grade complaints will not be entertained until 24 hours after the assignment is returned to you or more than two weeks after the exam/assignment has been returned. If you have a question concerning the grade you have received:

1) Wait 24 hours.
2) Write out an explanation of your question, including the reasons why you think your grade should be changed.
3) Submit your written complaint/question to me, and make an appointment to meet with me either during my office hours or at some other time.

Course Readings

There is one book for this course: William Powers. Blue Clay People: Seasons on Africa’s Fragile Edge (Blumsbury 2006). The book will be available at the bookstore. All other readings are in the course Moodle. I recommend that you take the time to download all of the articles at once and put them in a folder on your computer. You don’t want to have your ability to write papers dependent on fluky internet connections. Please DO NOT PRINT unless you absolutely have to. At last count the Wesleyan community was using three pounds of paper per person per week! Don’t contribute to that wasteful statistic!
